

Public Services

A public services course at college will give you the skills, experience and knowledge you need to pursue a career in the police, fire and ambulance services, as well as the armed forces and civil services.

Did you know?

Public Services staff and students engaged with all 5 emergency services and military services throughout the year. This means a variety of guest talks, live projects and careers events.

During the course you'll develop confidence, resilience and the technical skills you need for a variety of career opportunities.

We have strong links with the armed forces, police and fire service to provide you with a real hands on experience and the essential understanding of the industry you need to start your career.

Within our courses our learners have the opportunity to interact with different public services such as Police, Army, RAF, Navy and Fire Services.
