

Performing Arts

As a performing arts student you'll get a fantastic grounding in the industry by developing a wide range of skills and specialisms so you leave us an accomplished all-round performer.

At Chesterfield College, you'll have access to an in-house studio theatre, dance space and costume and props store.

Our tutors all come from a professional background meaning you'll be well-prepared when starting your own career.

Our courses offer many exciting performance opportunities including pantomimes and theatre productions. These will help to build your confidence, enhance your skills and prepare you for drama school or a university-level course.

Did you know?

Students perform to external audiences throughout their studies at our in-house theatre.

"I loved the facilities and resources we had available to us. We had our own theatre space, props and costumes. It was an amazing step up from school and a great introduction to real industry practices. The course helped me move into university, with support every step of the way "
